Party came back again to speak with [REDACTED]. He was upset because he called earlier asking to speak with the Sgt and I transferred his call to the OIC office. He was complaining that he was on hold for 15 minutes and no one answered. [REDACTED] spoke with him and explained that the call was transferred to his office, but he was not in the office at the time and voice mail should have answered. The party did not appear to be satisfied with that answer and left.
